Apprentice Lead Stone Installer Job Description

Looking for a career path?

We are offering the opportunity to apprentice in the stone industry, to train on-the-job, develop competencies, and become a stone craftsman and a lead installer.

We are seeking highly motivated and reliable individuals, who are comfortable operating hand-tools and have a basic understanding of geometry as it applies to construction in calculating angles. The ideal candidate will be dependable, hard-working, and possess a professional manner as they will be representing the company on job sites. Individuals must be physically fit as the work involves lifting and maneuvering. They must also possess a clean driving record.

During a three-year progressive program, participants will become proficient in all aspects of the intricacies of construction stone installations, both interior and exterior, including countertop, wall, furniture, and floor applications.

As a long-standing member of the Marble Institute of America, our training will incorporate problem solving, repairing, using traditional as well as state-of-the-art methods.

Competitive pay rates, the opportunity to grow within the company as well as medical and dental benefits are just a few of the perks of joining the Vesta team!
